

“Great Americans”

gather up each other thus on talk radio, excluding the warmer spectrum where some might refer to others as great human beings, who,

by definition, eschew
phony-baloney patriotism.